

MOD Corsham, Wiltshire Values Study Questionnaire

English Heritage has commissioned Oxford Archaeology to undertake a project considering the heritage of MOD Corsham, Wiltshire. Oxford Archaeology has already completed a Characterisation Study of the site, which established its historic development. The Values Study will consider the social, economic and cultural impact of the military use of Corsham in the Second World War and Cold War. We will also investigate the myths and legends surrounding the site. It is intended to involve the local community in the project, and we would very much like to hear from anyone who is willing to share their experiences. Please take a little time to answer the following questions, or contact us directly to chat through your experiences. If you would like to find out more about the history of the site please visit: www.corsham.thehumanjourney.net
